Images for Iron metabolism Human iron metabolism is the set of chemical reactions maintaining human homeostasis of iron at both the systemic and cellular level. The control of this necessary but potentially toxic metal is an important part of many aspects of human health and disease. Iron metabolism. - NCBI 2. Iron metabolism is finely regulated. Males contain about 4,000 mg of iron, of which 2,500 mg is within erythrocytes 1,000 mg is stored in splenic and hepatic macrophages, and the rest is distributed in various proteins such as myoglobin, cytochromes Physiology of Iron Metabolism - NCBI - NIH (1)Iron Metabolism Laboratory, The Queensland Institute of Medical Research, PO Royal The liver performs three main functions in iron homeostasis.
